

Chief Financial Officer

In February 2018, STALICLA has closed a successful seed round supported by a group of committed from high-profile biotech investors. STALICLA is currently engaged in a series A financing round to be closed by late 2018, which will provide sufficient funding to build the clinical development plan, secure pre-clinical data and IND packages, and move forward with early regulatory meetings and clinical trials. With the planned strategy in place, STALICLA will continue to establish the core team, build the clinical development plan, develop and optimize the protocols (preclinical and clinical), secure preclinical data and prepare the IND packages ready for IND submission in Q4 2019. This ambitious strategy and timeline requires a dedicated team in place to drive the process and build partnerships and relations with key stakeholders.

The Role

Reporting to the CEO, the Chief Financial Officer will be an essential member of the Executive Team and will provide close support to the CEO in all aspects of the company operations, especially related to compliance and investor relations.

The CFO will be responsible for all finance activities in the company, both internally and externally focused, including financial and expense projections, financial and funding strategy, working with the CEO in fundraising (investor due diligence, investor presentations etc.), financial reporting, compliance, controls, budgeting, pricing, tax, real estate, treasury, as well as IT and facilities functions.

The CFO will be responsible for:

- Being accountable to the CEO and to the Board for the financial management disciplines and governance of the business.
- Coordinating budget planning and providing proper tracking and reporting to management team on results.
- Investor and external relations – together with the CEO, building relationships with and giving presentations to analysts, investors and other audiences of relevance, working appropriately with the executive team and with advisers - acting as a credible and effective representative of the company.
- Contributing strongly to strategic and operational decision making, with high quality financial advice, experience and analysis.
- Managing all accounting, finance and other related functions. Managing all IT and facilities functions.
- Assuring necessary compliance on all tax, reporting, regulatory and financial obligations.
- Coordinating and supervising the management of all transactions related to investments, accounts payable and purchasing.

The Person

The successful candidate must have:

- Relevant education in finance and an excellent understanding of the financial aspects of a start-up company in Switzerland
- Direct experience leading the finance function, preferably in a small / start up organization in the biotech industry
- Understanding of valuation in biotech and how to package assets and information to the highest possible value
- An extensive network in the biotech financing industry would be nice to have.
- Aptitude to secure optimal financial and operational management reporting for the business and team.
- Compliance, commercial and financial acumen to help the Company accurately build business cases, interpret performance and anticipate the impact of decisions, ensuring that financial input to business decisions is of first-class quality and provided on a timely basis.
- In addition, candidates will have:

- A high comfort level working in a small start-up environment, where a hands-on and pragmatic approach is required as supporting resources are limited
- A passionate, energetic and enthusiastic personality that will ensure commitment to the company and its vision.
- Excellent communication skills both internally and externally
- A high level of energy and commitment

Attraction of the Role

The Chief Financial Officer will play a key role in shaping the future for the business, as well as contributing to the strategy and vision.

The CFO will work closely with the CEO and the Board in defining the strategic direction of the company and ensuring that all steps are compliant

The CFO will have the responsibility for the financial operations of the company and will contribute significantly to all aspects of the company's development

The CFO will enhance the reputation and position of the company with investors through road shows, conferences and presentations.

This is a very exciting opportunity for a motivated, energetic and experienced CFO to be part of a very meaningful journey in the healthcare space.

Request Information / Submit CV, please contact:

---

Kirstie Lee Todaro

Personal Assistant to CEO & Office Manager

T: +41 22 545 12 42

M: +44 7845 819 748

E: kirstielee.todaro@stalicla.com

www.stalicla.com

Campus Biotech Innovation Park
Avenue de Sécheron 15, 1202 Genève,
Switzerland